SEDALIA, MISSOURI, THURSDAY, JULY 14, 1892.

PRICE, FIVE CENTS.

CLEVERLY NABBED.

P. J. FELVEY, OF MINNEAPOLIS, RUN DOWN.

He Is Charged With Forgery and Will Doubtless Get a Long Term.

Mr. O. R. Beatty, special agent for the Minneapolis & St. Louis Railway and United Express company, succeeded in capturing a slick criminal in Sedalia to-day and thereby saved the two companies above from the enterprising skill of a most accomplished thief and forger.

For a considerable time the express company in particular has been losing considerable money by having their blank orders stolen and filled out for sums ranging from $45 to $48. An officer was put upon the case and a fellow by the name of P. J. Felvey, whose parents reside at St. Louis Park, a suburb about three miles from Minneapolis, was suspected. Felvey had been station agent and telegraph operator at Minnetonka Mills, Minn., but had thrown up his job and disappeared. Special Agent O. R. Beatty finally got track of him. Hearing that he was in Kansas he made a visit to that state. At Garnett, Kas., yesterday he learned that Felvey had been employed in the office of the Missouri Pacific, but had left. He had worked about fifteen days and claimed to have come from Houston, Texas. While the officer was at Garnett a message came to the agent from Felvey asking that his grip be sent to Sedalia. The grip was sent, but on it was pinned an order telling the agent to arrest the man who called for the grip. Mr. Beatty immediately started for this city.

Marshal De Long and Sheriff Ellis R. Smith had been notified and the man was spotted and shadowed. Upon the arrival of Mr. Beatty this morning, Felvey was promptly turned over to him.

While at Garnett, the agent notified Mr. Beatty that the Yale lock on his safe had been picked and two express blanks stolen. These were found on Felvey's person. The prisoner is being held for requisition papers from Minnesota, where he will be taken when they are received.

Felvey's folks are said to be in good circumstances and are people of much respectability. He is unmarried and up to about last April had always borne a good reputation. He is supposed to have arrived in Sedalia last Tuesday. He gave out the story that he had been employed at Garnett and expected to draw his pay from Col. L. F. Sheldon, assistant superintendent of telegraph in Sedalia. He claimed that his check had been delayed on account of being garnished.

ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT

Of the National Guards of Missouri --The Order Issued.

The annual state encampment of the four regiments N. G. M., will begin Sunday, July 17th, at Carthage and continue till July 24th.

A reporter for the DEMOCRAT to-day called on Dr. J. W. Trader, chief surgeon for the Second regiment, and was shown the following order issued to all superior officers: HEADQUARTERS THIRD INF. N. G. M. CARTHAGE, MO., July 11, 1892.

GENERAL ORDER NO. 11.—In pursuance of special order No. 80, dated, Jefferson City, Mo., July 7th 1892, this command will assemble for camp of instruction at Carthage, Mo., July 17th to 24th insts.

The directions contained in the circular dated from these headquarters July 9th will be complied with, and commanding officers of companies will make the reports therein called for without delay.

Detailed information in regard to transportation will be sent as soon as known. The colonel commanding is glad to announce that Gen'l Wickham and Gen'l Moore will be present during a portion of the time.

This camp will be conducted as nearly as possible under strict military discipline. By order of W. W. K. COFFEY, Colonel Commanding.

J. M. McMILLAN, Captain and Adjutant."

It will be remembered that under the act passed by congress during the Cleveland administration, all the state regiments are governed by the same regulations as the regular United States militia. There is an average of about 500 in each of the four regiments of Missouri.

OFF FOR ST. JOSEPH.

The Sedalia Base Ball Team Will Show the Strangers a Few Things.

Manager B. B. Ray, with his crack nine, left at 5:05 this morning over the Lexington branch for St. Joseph, where they played the St. Joe boys this afternoon and will cross bats with them to-morrow and Saturday.

It was the original intention to play in Leavenworth to-day, but the club at that point had the date filled and was unable to give our boys a chance. Atchison could not fill in the break, as she has no grounds.

The boys started out with blood in their eyes, and it is safe to say that under the management of B. B. Ray nothing will be left undone to sustain the reputation of Sedalia ball players.

Knock 'em silly, boys.

NEVER TO BE RECALLED.

The Carrying of a Pistol Costs a Friend's Life in a Moment of Passion.

The danger of carrying a pistol even in the company of friends is made terribly significant by the tragedy at Clayton, near St. Louis, yesterday.

Ed. Green, of the St. Louis Clothing Co., was personally acquainted with both of the principals in the shooting. Sheriff Dozenbach and Mr. Smith had long been friends and were undoubtedly such up to within a few moments prior to the firing of the fatal shot. Their families had long been intimate and the boys of both households had "chummed" together. In a moment of passion the pistol was drawn before its owner had time to think, and the man with whom he had passed many a pleasant day was laying lifeless at his feet.

At My New Stand.

I wish to state to my friends and old customers that during my absence Mr. Pete Schuster will have charge of my butcher business at the market house, and will continue to give bargains at the lowest prices in fine meats. Trusting that you will call to see me as usual, I am Very truly yours,

LOUIS BAHNER.

Mrs. Tom Hutton Hurt.

Mrs. Thomas S. Hutton jumped from a runaway carriage at Nevada, Mo., yesterday and was seriously hurt. She was rendered unconscious for a time, and the full extent of her injuries cannot now be told. She is the woman over whom her husband shot a man named Deffenbaugh. Mr. Hutton was in Sedalia yesterday.

A Pleasant Outing.

Conductor John Wrightman and wife and Harry Feldott and wife are camping out down on Flat creek near where it empties into the Lamine south of Otterville. They joined a party of relatives at this point to have a family reunion and a good time generally. There are twenty-two people in the crowd and every body is said to be having lots of fun.

Springfield Odd Fellows.

F. E. Hoffman will leave this evening for Springfield, Mo., where the grand lodge of the I. O. O. F. meets to-day and to-morrow. A special programme has been prepared, the principal feature of which is a lodge of instruction. Mr. Hoffman will also visit Joplin during his absence to settle insurance claims.

Business Change.

Louis Bahner yesterday sold his butcher stand on the east side of the market house, to Messrs. George West, Sam Ewart and "Hut" Windsor. He then purchased from Pete Schuster the stand immediately west of his old place.

THE NIANGUA CLUB.

A CHAMPION FOR SEDALIA'S FUTURE SUCCESS.

An Institution That Proposes to Advance the Queen City in a Practical Way.

The readers of the DEMOCRAT doubtless remember an extended notice in these columns of the organization and the granting of a charter by the state to the "Niangua club," an organization composed of the representative business men of Sedalia. Its constitution stated among other commendable things that the club had been brought into existence for the purpose of assisting in every possible way any proposition that might arise wherein Sedalia could be benefitted and made to take her place at the head of the progressive cities of the state, a position that she deserves by both her resources and her location.

The officers of the club were elected, and constitute the best and most available business men of Sedalia. Two hundred shares were to be issued at $100 each, and with the money obtained in this way property was to be bought and a fine commercial building erected upon it at a cost of $20,000.

A DEMOCRAT reporter interviewed Mr. O. A. Crandall, the president, to-day and was given a few points that should commend themselves to the city an advantage by using one wall of the building for a side of the convention hall.

The committee who have the club shares in hand are now at work. Carefully consider the matter and give them a conscientious hearing when they call upon you.

THE AWARDS MADE.

Result of the Oratorical and Declamatory Contests at Pertle Springs Chautauqua.

Prof. W. M. Goodwin, assistant principle of the Clinton academy, in company with his wife, who is the elocution teacher at the same school, was in town this morning a few hours. The professor attended the intercollegiate contest in oratory and declamation given under the auspices of the Chautauqua Assembly at Pertle Springs last night.

To a DEMOCRAT reporter he stated that forty of the first-class schools in the state accepted invitations to participate in the contests.

The award of medals was made last night as follows:

Oration—First honors, gold medal: Mr. Tower, of Park college, Parkville; second honors, silver medal: Fred B. Owen, of Clinton academy, Clinton.

Declamation—First honors, gold medal: Ned W. Lamkin, of Clinton academy; second—honors, silver medal: Mr. Snowberger, of the Warrensburg normal.

In this contest Mr. Charles C. Bronaugh, son of Capt. T. P. Bronaugh, of Boonville, was given honorable mention.

In the rehearsal contest, participated in exclusively by ladies, the result was as follows:

everyone in a way that will stimulate action and not lie idle, simply as so much chaff. Many of Sedalia's enterprises have necessitated her citizens to "crack down" the almighty dollar in large numbers. This is right, and no one has any right to complain from a personal standpoint when his neighbor has paid out as much as the sometimes kicker.

But the Niangua club goes at the matter in a different way. It says we will issue 200 shares at $100 each; this will make $20,000 with which a business building will be erected and the portion not occupied by the club will be rented for business purposes that will bring an income and thereby make the money invested a good business speculation, the property advancing in value as the town progresses. Such being the case, no one really gives anything at all, as they receive good interest in return. In Fort Worth, Texas, and many other places, the shares of such clubs have advanced in value until a share that originally cost $100 could not be purchased for less than $1,000.

The Niangua club means more than this to Sedalia. Our city has become the great convention town of the state. But we have no hall large enough to accommodate the multitudes that come here. Should the club be placed in working order, and it will, its members propose to make a proposition to our citizens that they can do nothing less than accept. The club will assume a certain number of shares for the erection of such a hall and allow

First honors, gold medal: Miss Schuety, of Woodland academy, Independence; second honors, silver medal: Miss Alice Wright, of Boonville. Miss Wright is the daughter of Judge Thos. B. Wright, who is quite well known in Sedalia.

SEVENTY LOST.

An Argentine Warship Founders in a Storm—Entire Crew Missing.

BUENOS AYRES, July 14.—The Argentine torpedo catcher Rosalis has foundered in a storm off the coast of Uruguay.

The officers were saved.

The crew, numbering seventy, are missing.

The Argentine ironclad Almirante Brown and the cruiser Vinticino, which were en route to Spain, are missing and it is believed that they foundered in the storm.

A popular subscription has been opened for the purchase of a warship similar to the Rosalis.

Will They Bite?

Will Powell, Jr., Will Sprecher, Hanly Pilkington, Nute Sprecher and D. M. Overstreet defied the sun and mosquitoes this afternoon and went to Flat creek on a big fishing jaunt. Several of Ira Hinsdale's freight wagons have been secured to bring in the windy stories.

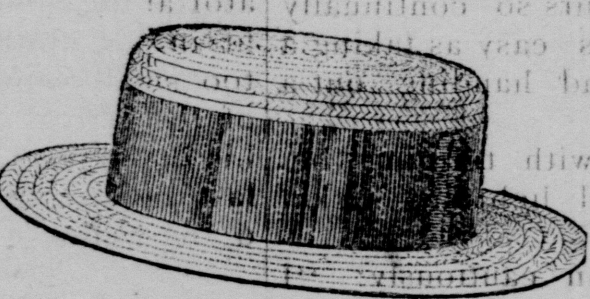

The Gun Club Shoot.

The Sedalia Gun club is making preparations for lots of fun at their first regular shoot at Forest park next Tuesday. All the good shots in town will be there and the price of glass balls has accordingly risen.

"STATESMEN'S CORNER."

The Green Ridge Forum Invaded by the Officers and the Speakers Dispersed.

The little town of Green Ridge is in a world of trouble which began by the arrest of Dr. C. W. Leabo and City Clerk C. B. Wharton last Sunday for "speechifying and raising a disturbance, as charged in the warrant, by loud discussions on Sunday." The platform from which the two orators gave to the world their eloquence is the sidewalk in front of Servant Bros., just across from the depot, and is known as "Statesmen's Corner." During the long summer days when there is not much going in the little town, the local politicians are wont to congregate at this particular corner and fight over the battles of the war and tangle themselves up with the intricacies of the future.

At the meeting of the city council of Green Ridge last night a petition was read asking for the removal from office of the mayor and the marshal. It caused great excitement but was not passed.

ED NOLAN'S APPEAL.

His Attorney Leaves for Washington to File it With the Supreme Court.

From the Republic.
Mr. Charles T. Noland, one of the attorneys for Ed Noland, ex-state treasurer, left last night for Washington to file with the United States supreme court the appeal for a reversal of the defendant's conviction. The case, it is hoped by the defense, will have an early hearing. The main point made in the appeal is that Noland was not given the right of trial by jury as provided for in the constitution. It is claimed that he was tried at Jefferson City for two offenses, one of which it was alleged, was committed in Kansas City and the other in St. Louis. This the defense claims is contrary to the law, which specifically provides that a defendant must be tried in the county where the alleged offense was committed, unless a change of venue was granted. In other words, the attorneys of ex-treasurer Noland claim that instead of the one trial for embezzlement at Jefferson City, there should have been two trials, one at St. Louis and the other at Kansas City. Mr. Noland's attorneys, Governor Johnson, and Mr. Charles Noland, are confident that the federal supreme court will reverse the decision of the state supreme court and remand the case for trial.

WANTS A DIVORCE.

Petition to that Effect Filed With the Circuit Clerk.

A petition for divorce was filed in Circuit Clerk Fowler's office to-day by Nora Jackson against her husband, William Jackson. The plaintiff alleges that the defendant deserted her more than one year ago prior to the date filing of this petition and has, during that period, refused to provide means for her support.

Hon. G. W. Barnett is the plaintiff's attorney.

"I would earnestly advise them: for their good to order this paper to be punctually served up and to be looked upon as a part of the tea equipage."—ADDISON.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—Patrons of the EVENING DEMOCRAT will confer a favor upon the management by promptly reporting any irregularity in delivery or bad condition of paper from improper handling.

In point of actual city circulation the EVENING DEMOCRAT is right at the top.

The past two months have been fine growing weather for the DEMOCRAT subscription list.

Mr. Major Warner is wise he will follow the example of Dr. Dressel and refuse to march to certain defeat.

PAVE Third street and finish the job before the fair. This is the demand of the Third street property owners, reinforced by the wishes of the whole city.

THERE is no reason to believe that the third party will accomplish anything in national politics, but the house helped it some by defeating the free silver bill.

THE growth in the circulation of the EVENING DEMOCRAT has been remarkable. Long before the paper is one year old it will be first in point of circulation, if it is not already first.

If Major Warner does not "stand up for Missouri" any better than he is said to have stood up for an old friend who materially assisted him in his helpless youth, the state will not be materially benefitted even if he should be elected.

RIVAL republican factions in St. Louis county have been having a hot contest for control of the party. Yesterday Sheriff Dosenbach, one of the "big five," shot and killed Major W. S. Smith, a prominent member of the rival faction.

HEREAFTER when street paving contracts are let, the forfeit should be large enough to make the contractors hustle. The loss of $25 per day is nothing compared to the inconvenience and annoyance of having Third street incomplete when the fair is being held.

THE Gazette says, "Postmaster H. C. Demuth will be his own successor." That settles it. The edict of the bosses has gone forth and those republicans who expected to have their claims considered at the expiration of the present term must bow their heads and wear the yoke.

THE newspaper correspondents and editorial writers, says the Republic, should be more exact, especially where the words used are liable to predetermine public judgment upon questions which should be determined only upon the basis of facts. The Homestead workingmen who have been barred out of the Carnegie mills are not "strikers." They were locked out and the works shut down at a time when a committee of the workingmen was endeavoring to see Mr. Frick in order to arrange a peaceable compromise. They did not quit work voluntarily, but were deprived of work by the order of the Carnegie company.

OUR FOREIGN TRADE.

In commenting upon the exports of the United States during the last fiscal year the Boston Commercial Bulletin, a republican journal, says: "The extraordinary demand for breadstuffs and the large shipments of cotton have helped materially to swell our total of exports, but there has also been a gratifying increase in other directions to which result the reciprocity policy contributed."

This is true, says the Detroit Free Press, and shows the utter falsity of the claim that our increased foreign trade is due to a policy of high protection. The failure of crops in the old world made it a necessity to draw upon the surplus of cereals in this. The farmers of this country have benefitted through the misfortunes of those on the other side. Beyond this the meager increased trade with the outside world was due almost exclusively to reciprocity.

This recalls what Mr. Blaine said and did when insisting in his clear and incisive way that the doctrine of reciprocity should become a tenet in the republican declaration of faith. He foresaw that ultra McKinleyism would not, he declared, furnish a market for a single bushel of wheat or in any way enlarge the foreign market of the American farmer. Pass such a measure, he said, and it will prove disastrous to those responsible. Excitedly placing his silk hat upon the table of the committee room, he crushed it with a blow of his hand and exclaimed: "There, gentlemen, will be the condition of our party next fall if this McKinley bill is made a law unless the feature of reciprocity be embodied." As it was the prophecy was fulfilled in the crushing defeat given the republicans in 1890.

In his powerful argument in a celebrated criminal case Daniel Webster said that there was no refuge save in suicide and that suicide was confession. There is no refuge for the republican party save in reciprocity, and reciprocity, carried to its fullest extent, is free trade.

THERE is a valuable lesson for many business men in the following from the Marshall Democrat-News:

"If the weather is good the successful merchant never allows a period of 'dull times.' Some merchant complains of dull times at this season of the year, and, to be sure his complaint is well-founded, he takes his advertisement out of the paper and his business does fall off. He refuses to let the whole public know that he has bargains to offer in goods that will shortly be out of season. Who makes the money? The merchant who has no time to complain of hard times, but who is looking through his stock, selecting bargains for the people and speaking to the multitude through the best advertising medium. Buyers are numerous who wait for just such times and the newspaper tells them where to go."

It is the duty of the state to protect private property. That is plain and undisputed. The Carnegie of the country should realize, however, that "protected" industries are quasi public institutions, built for the "benefit of American labor" under the operation of laws enacted for that purpose and which impose a tax on the general public. They should at last begin to realize what a dangerous doctrine protection really is, and what a short step it is from the position of the protectionist to that of the communist. If we may by law take a portion of the earnings of a thousand men and give it to Carnegie, why may we not as justly take Carnegie's earnings and divide it among a thousand men?

A REPUBLICAN exchange says that "with no protective tariff there would have been no Homestead mills." There is some truth in the statement. But there is no reason to believe that there would have been no steel and iron industries, though it is probable there would have been a multitude of small industries instead of one great monopoly.

THE laboring men of Chicago, Boston and other cities are organizing militia companies. They say they do not propose to violate any law, but desire to be drilled and armed that they may be in a position to defend laboring men when they are attacked by mercenary armies.

THE Washington correspondent of the Republic says that when the silver bill was beaten in the house, Congressman Tarsney bet a suit of clothes that Cleveland would not get the electoral vote of Missouri. That hot-headed congressman will lose the bet and be glad to pay it.

THE republicans are sparing neither labor nor expense in arranging to make their state meeting on the 27th a success. That is the way the Queen City does everything.

No public-spirited citizen should fail to improve any opportunity to encourage and build up any profitable industry that seeks a home in the Queen City.

HOW TO COUNT MONEY.

The Rush at the Doors of Circuses and Other Big Shows.

The waiting crowd surges about the "business end" of the wagon, and meanwhile the two dispensers of tickets have seated themselves on a little bench just inside. Suddenly the word is given and an attendant pulls a strap, hoisting the windows, and the business commences. Not a word does these young men have to say to each other or to their customers. Their eyes are looking at lists of all sizes and descriptions, full of money, and from right to left and then back again they capture the clutched coin and bills, moving from side to side, enabling all to have an equal chance.

Directly a coin or bill is received it is placed on a shelf on a level with the seller's arm and the patron has made place for next in line, then it is thrown into a huge wicker basket on the floor at his feet.

This retention of money in sight for a moment is in order to effectually settle any dispute by an excited buyer who might be inclined to question the accuracy of his change or the amount he had paid in. It seems almost an unnecessary precaution, however, as these young men never get "rattled" and have no time for talk or argument.

After the rush yesterday Mr. Callan consented to talk about the difficult art which embraces accuracy and speed to no limited extent, and, after modestly admitting that it was an expert profession, in which big salaries were paid to the "masters," said:

"We never look at faces—always at the hand that holds the money. That once secured and the ticket or tickets and change thrust into it, then on to the next."

"Suppose some one bothers you with questions or annoys you in any way so as to interfere with your sale, what do you do?" He laughed as he pointed to a fat man standing by. "At a signal that fat man gets directly in front of the fractions one, and by the simple process of moving backward gradually, all the time treading on his corns, the line is opened, and by the time the crank has got on the outside we have sold hundreds of tickets."

"We have a plentiful supply of change and do not touch the money received."

"Counterfeit money we do not fear; we can almost tell it by the smell a mile off and the only notice we take of it is to whisper one to the other, 'Bad stuff! Where is that officer?' and the dishonest one who has offered it can scarcely get away quick enough. Think of a man coming up and asking for thirteen whole and seven half tickets and slapping down a handful of bills and silver to pay. It takes a quick brain and a steady head and hand to complete the transaction, but, with little variations as to place and detail, it occurs so continually that it is almost as easy as taking a fifty-cent piece and handing out a ticket."

"Can anyone with training become a successful lightning ticket seller?"

Said Mr. Callan cautiously: "I am sure I don't know, but my opinion—only my opinion, mind you—is that the circus ticket seller is born, not made."

THE ANIMAL THAT GAMBLES.

New Definition of Man, and One in Which no Flaw Can be Found.

From the San Francisco Chronicle.

Starting with the proposition that man is an animal, there have been many attempts to define or explain what kind of an animal man is—that is, to make an exhaustive definition, and one which shall completely differentiate man from every other animal. Plato defined man as "a two-legged animal without feathers," but Diogenes ruined his definition forever by taking a chicken and stripping the feathers from it and exhibiting it as Plato's man. It evidently will not do to classify man as the animal that laughs, for we are familiar with the laughing hyena and with a horse laugh, to say nothing of the grin of the Cheshire cat. Nor, on the other hand, is man the animal that cries, else why should we read of crocodile tears?

The faculty of reasoning cannot be claimed for man alone. It has been sought to define man as the fire-using animal, but this is not exact enough for a definition. Nor will the definition of man as the tool-using animal be any more satisfactory. Many kinds of animals, birds especially, use tools with great skill.

But there is one definition of man to which no exception can be taken and in which he stands solitary and alone. Man is the gambling animal. He alone of all the animal kingdom submits the decision of a question to the arbitrament of chance and tempts fate by an appeal to what he calls luck. Search as we may we shall find no other animal that gambles.

Here, then, is the long-sought definition of man, and one in which no flaw can be found. It may not be particularly gratifying to mankind that it should be compelled to be confined to such a definition, but scientific accuracy cannot be sacrificed to mere prejudice or personal feeling. Man is the animal that gambles, and that is all there is to be said about it.

To Summer Tourists.

The season is at hand when the man of affairs, the man who, through the long winter months, has devoted his best energies to the tasks and problems of the counting room, the office, the pulpit, or legislative halls; when the matron and the maid, wearied of the long season of social gaiety or confinement in the school or lecture room, betake themselves to the sea shore, the mountains, the country or the springs, in search of pleasure and rest. The Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway has placed on sale summer tourist tickets at very low rates, with long transit limits, good to return until October 1st or 15th. Every variety of amusements and the most picturesque of surroundings are thus placed within the reach of all.

It Saves the Children.

Mr. C. H. Shawen, Wellsville, Kan., says: "It is with pleasure that I speak of the good Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has done my family during the last fourteen years. In the most obstinate cases of summer complaint and diarrhoea among my children it acted as a charm, making it never necessary to call in a physician. I can truthfully say that in my judgment, based on years of experience, there is no medicine in the market that is its equal." For sale by Aug. Fleischmann.

He Is Appointed.

The appointment of George W. Galbreath as national bank examiner for Missouri has been made and this genial gentleman has every reason to feel highly gratified as there were over thirty applicants for the position. He comes of a family of bankers and will be perfectly at home in his new position. The office will bring from $6,000 to $10,000 per year.

Mr. Galbreath has, as yet, received no official notice of his appointment, but will doubtless be informed in a day or two, the appointment coming by mail.

Real Live Sport in London.

From the Chicago Herald.

The latest London idea for imparting a novel feature to gambling is the linnet singing competition. The birds in their cages are placed on a table and enticed in various ways to sing. Bets are placed on the different birds, but the money is not won on the bird that sings first nor longest. The winner is the one that in a given time executes the greatest number of notes, rings the greatest number of changes, gives the finest run of trills, etc. The sport is growing in popularity.

A Pleasant Sunday Outing.

SHOP AND RAIL.ITEMS OF INTEREST TO LOCAL TRAINMEN.*News About Different Roads, Employers and Employees.*No Foundation in the Report.

General Freight Agent C. P. Rector, of the M., K. & T., whose headquarters are at Parsons, Kansas, is to be placed at Kansas City. The Kansas City business, at one time weak from the competition of other roads, has assumed much larger proportions in the past eighteen months and the M., K. & T. is now recognized by shippers at that point as a great line to the south and southwest.

The above notice of the intended change is in substance as sent out from Kansas City last night. A DEMOCRAT reporter, however, investigated the report this morning and from undoubted authority was told that no such change had been made. It is nothing more than a rumor started in the windy city at the mouth of the Kaw. Mr. Rector's headquarters are still at Parsons.

Walter G. Graham came up from Parsons last night.

J. Waldo, in his private car No. 36, went to St. Louis this morning.

Edwin Adams is up from Hannibal to-day, talking Gilmore route.

M. Finnegan, a west end fireman, went to St. Louis last night on a short visit.

Col. John S. Elliott, the well-known tie contractor, was in town this morning.

Vice-President Waldo came up from the south in his private car this morning.

Geo. W. Ferrell donned his conductor's uniform this morning and went to work.

A band of little folks, children of Master of Transportation Sweeney and Conductor Dave Temple, went to Parsons this morning.

Fireman D. E. Mercer, of the west end of the Missouri Pacific, left last night for Farmer City, Ill., where he will visit with friends.

General Superintendent J. J. Frey and Col. John S. Elliott went north this morning and will see how the M., K. & E. is getting along.

D. M. Wheeler, a prominent contractor on the M., K. & E. branch of the "Katy" came up from St. Louis last night and departed for Boonville this morning, where he will look up his railroad interests.

By the burning of the passenger and freight depot at Concordia, Kas., on the Missouri Pacific yesterday, a passenger coach was destroyed together with $1,000 worth of machinery belonging to Grossbeck & Belisle.

To-morrow afternoon is the regular monthly pay day for the local employees of the "Katy." On the day following the Pacific boys will realize their earnings. The amount paid out by both companies would make quite a handsome little fortune.

Miss Grace Shephard, stenographer in the office of Superintendent of Transportation Sweeney, of the M., K. & T., has resigned and gone to Denison, where she has accepted a similar position with the wholesale grocery house of Whaples, Platter & Co. Miss Rose Hugenin has been given Miss Shephard's place in Mr. Sweeney's office.—Parsons Sun, 12th.

Sitting at a safe distance from the fiery heating furnace at the blacksmith shop this morning and watching the lurid flames, fanned by bellows, to maximum heat, Foreman Jim Mills took occasion to make the following philosophical inquiry of a DEMOCRAT reporter: "Do you think Shadrack, Meshac and Abednego were entombed in a furnace as hot as that and escaped unharmed?" Just then the reporter saw something in the distance that attracted his attention and he took his departure.

Vice-President Purdy, of the M., K. & T., arrived in the city yesterday in his special car, accompanied by his daughter, Constance, and governess, Mrs. F. E. Miller, and three maids. The residence of Mrs. Helen M. Noyes, on East Forest avenue, which has been leased by Mr. Purdy, is being fitted up in handsome style for a home, active work having been commenced yesterday afternoon.... Purchasing Agent Stevens, of the M., K. & T., accompanied by his wife, returned yesterday morning from Toledo, O., where they had been to pay the last sad respects to the deceased father of Capt. Stevens.—Parsons Sun, 13th.

Sudden Death.

MARCELINE, Mo., July 14.—Mrs.

A. Hass, wife of A. Hass, one of the leading merchants of this city, died very suddenly yesterday. She arose in her usual health and was preparing for a drive, when she sank to the floor and in a few minutes was a corpse. She was 45 years of age and leaves a husband and ten children. Mr. Haas came here from Sweet Springs, Mo., about three years ago. The remains will be taken to Indianapolis, Ind., for interment.

POLICE COURT.A Very Silly Young Man Disgraces Himself in Sedalia Last Night.

As the judge rapped for order this morning, a case on docket caused him to wonder at the weakness of man. There was an entry which read "C. Freeman, associating with lewd characters." Freeman is not his name and were it not for this being his first offense it would be printed in bold black type. He is not a resident of Sedalia. He is of a fine family, is good looking and is altogether a young man of talents too valuable to ruthlessly place himself in such a disreputable position. He was arrested last night at the house of Rachel Armstrong, a mulatto cyprian. A fine of $5 was assessed and "Mr. Freeman" told to go and sin no more.

Rachel Armstrong, his associate, was up for lewd conduct. This woman has been in the box before and is a quadron of more than an average amount of beauty. Judge Rauck gave her a lot of good wholesome advice at which the woman burst into tears but she was too strongly enfolded in the coils of the serpent to have even a vague hope of escaping. Her case was continued until Monday.

Thos. Stanton and Edwin Hoffman, two trespassers on railroad property, so read the charge, were given time to get out of town.

A WIFE BEATER WHIPPED.Simon Matson Given a Touch of His Own Whip.

St. JOSEPH, Mo., July 14.—At Fairbury, Neb., Tuesday night, Simon Matson, a wife beater, was forcibly taken from jail at about 12 o'clock by a party of masked men, conducted to the river bank and given a terrible horse whipping with the same whip he used on his wife and children last Sunday night. A big rawhide whip which Matson had been accused of using on his wife and children, had been procured and this was shown him. At the same time the question was put to him if it was not the same one that he had used on his family.

He hesitated a moment, but dropped on his knees and while begging for mercy, confessed his brutality. He was then tied to the bridge, his back bared and thirty-six lashes from the whip laid across it with a vigor that made his yells heard for blocks. After making his promise never to misuse his wife or family again, he was taken back to jail.

Official World's Fair Guide.

It is very seldom that we are able to recommend a book so unreservedly as we can the "World's Columbian Exposition & Chicago Guide." The work is official and reliable and is no catch-penny product, but a book which having the greatest interest at the present time possesses value so permanent as to entitle it to a place in every household. More than 500 pages richly embellished with superb illustrations of the highest order. Elegantly printed and handsomely bound.

The guide does not only describe to the minutest detail everything of inestimable value pertaining to the Exposition and Chicago, but has a full page picture of each of the mammoth exhibit buildings in eight oil colors. Also many others, illustrating artistically the useful, the curious and the beautiful that will be there in magnificent display.

It caps the climax with a magnificent cyclorama view, "Birds-eye View of the Exposition Grounds and Buildings," beautifully lithographed in eight oil colors, size, 9x25 inches.

It is a book for the millions who contemplate visiting Chicago in 1893. It will be purchased by the millions who cannot go, but will desire to know just what their friends are seeing. The price of the book adapts it to the wants of the masses.

Agents are wanted to sell the book in every town. Full particulars and terms will be sent on application. Address Archibald & Co., 509 Chestnut street, St. Louis, Mo. Read their advertisement in another column.

An Eastern View of the West.

From the Philadelphia Times.

It is in the west that the clouds are thickening and the thunders muttering the threats of a coming tempest for the republicans. There is not a single state west of Ohio, unless Oregon and Washington may be excepted, that is now certain for Harrison. Most of them may vote for Harrison, but all of them may vote against him, and the tide is likely to be sweeping one for one side or the other.

A SHORT HISTORYOf the Miner Symptomatic Gold Treatment and Some of the Secrets of its Unrivalled Success.

The Miner treatment is not an experiment, but the outgrowth of a complete and careful research, combined with years of experience. Centuries ago Paracelsus discovered a golden light and proclaimed to the world that the great eradicating agent for all hereditary taints would be found in gold, the king of metals. Ever since it has been demonstrated to the world that alcoholism is a curable disease, there has existed much of skepticism and prejudice, coming not only from the general public, but from the medical fraternity as well. It has taken time to overcome these obstacles. There was also need for improvement in the remedies used, and a more scientific system for their administration. In formulating our treatment, Symptomatic Gold Treatment these and many other most needed requisites for a safe and scientific course of treatment have been successfully met.

After visiting numerous institutions established for the treatment and cure of diseases in question, and upon close investigation we are frank to admit that there is a marked similarity in all treatments. It is not our intention to speak disparagingly of any who may, either by word or deed, help on this grand work. Yet, as we have already indicated, to our minds, the only safe and reliable treatment is that which is known and admits of variation by the physician in charge. Then and only then is he prepared to meet complications and suit his treatment to the changing conditions of the patient, as in pneumonia, typhoid fever, or any other disease.

Therefore, in presenting to you our Symptomatic Gold Treatment, we beg you to consider it thoughtfully, and should it recommend itself to your best judgment we shall be pleased to have you investigate our work, either in your own interest or in behalf of your friends and suffering humanity.
